Vimshottari Dasha

Vimshottari Dasha is a predictive system in astrology that uses the positions of planets to forecast life events like marriage, career, and health. It works in cycles based on Nakshatras, starting from birth until the end of the native's life. The system is divided into Mahadasha (major period) and Antardasha (sub-period). Mahadasha starts with the Nakshatra of the Moon at birth, while Antardasha provides more precise timing for events. It's a structured way to understand the timeline of one's life events.

Manishaa, you're presently experiencing the Mahadasha (major period) of Rahu, which began on 15th August, 2025 and will continue until 15th August, 2043 . Additionally, you're currently influenced by the Rahu Antardasha (sub-period) within the Rahu Mahadasha, starting from 15th August, 2025 and concluding on 27th April, 2028 .

KEY ELEMENTS OF YOUR KUNDLI

Foundation of Your Kundli

Your Birth Panchang

Your birth panchang forms the basis of your Kundli. The strength of your planets largely depends on the strength of your panchang. To get better results from the yogas in your Kundli, it is strongly advised to perform remedies for any panchang doshas.

Friday

Your Vedic Day

In Vedic astrology, a new day begins when the sun comes up, and the day ends when the sun rises again the following morning.

You are born on Shukravaar (Friday), which makes you beautiful/handsome with that dash of rare intelligence. Shukravaar is ruled by the harmonious Venus. Venus gives you kapha dominant prakriti. This planet also bestows you with good health and cheerful emotions. You have a perfect eye for beauty and creativity. You appreciate material things and possessions but also have an immense ability to love others. Friday symbolizes rajas guna, which makes you attractive but also leaves you longing for attachment.

1. On Shukravaar (Friday), align with the energy of Shukra (Venus), which influences love and beauty. Show reverence to Mata Lakshmi by reciting the Shri Lakshmi Mantra, which attracts prosperity and well-being. Emphasize cleanliness in your personal conduct and show respect towards cows, symbolising nurturing and abundance, to foster a harmonious and prosperous environment around you.

Krishna Saptami

Your Tithi

You were born under Krishna Paksha, in Saptami tithi which is ruled by Sun. Saptami bumps up human desires so that they are no more. You are a great visionary and philosopher. You are warm, with good leadership qualities. You are always caught between frustration and fulfilment. If you are unable to curb your desires, you might land up feeling frustrated and angry. You may lack commitment to your relationship, making it unstable.

1. To enhance the positive vibes on your special day, consider these easy yet impactful steps:
2. Begin with sun worship and offer water to the sun, welcoming its energy into your life.
3. Ensure your home is airy and receives plenty of sunlight to promote a healthy environment.
4. Light incense to fill your space with soothing aromas.
5. Energize yourself with a handful of dry almonds as a snack.
6. Steer clear of consuming amla on this day to maintain the day's positivity.
7. Adopting these practices can help make your day both auspicious and fulfilling.

Magha

Your Nakshatra

This Nakshatra is known for its majestic, leader-like qualities. Magha native, guided by ancestral deities, you honor traditions with a dignified, leadership-oriented persona. Your life is rooted in strong family values and spirituality. Loyal and reliable, you have a keen interest in history and genealogy, combining generosity with ambition and high personal standards.

1. Respecting and honouring your ancestors through rituals like Shraddha can bring blessings and protection from negative energies. Chanting the mantra 'Aum Pitru Devata Namaha' 108 times can help establish a connection with your ancestors and receive their guidance and blessings. Additionally, lighting a sesame oil lamp and offering red flowers to Lord Vishnu during Magha Nakshatra days can bring prosperity and success in your endeavours.
2. To overcome obstacles and gain blessings from Shri Ganesha, recite 'Aum Haridra Ganapataye Namaha' 108 times. This mantra is associated with Magha Nakshatra and can help you overcome challenges and achieve success. Chanting the Magha Nakshatra mantra 'om mām mīm mūm mem moīm maīm maghā nakṣatrayai namaḥ' at least 21 times when the Moon is in Magha can enhance your positive qualities, such as leadership, authority, and loyalty.

Vishti

Your Karan

In your Kundli, the Vishti Karana is present, which is ruled by Saturn, and the ruling deity is Yama. This Karana indicates that you might have to deal with negative traits from your past life. The remedial measures are necessary to reduce the ill effects of this Karana. The negative traits such as possessiveness, jealousy, and anger could hold you back from living a successful life. The placement of Saturn in your Kundli will significantly influence your reactions to the situations around you. If Saturn's placement is good, you would have good control over your anger, jealousy, and negative emotions. In contrast, a weak Saturn placement may lead to instability in your life. Therefore, it is essential to take remedial measures to reduce the ill effects of this Karana and create positive karmas in your current life.

1. If the Vishti Karana affects you, it's essential to learn how to delegate and trust others with their responsibilities. Avoid the temptation to micromanage. Instead, lead by example and inspire everyone to work together towards shared objectives.
2. Practising mindfulness and self-reflection can also be beneficial. These practices help you recognize when you're overstepping in others' tasks. By becoming more self-aware, you can curb the urge to interfere and strike a better balance between working together and letting others manage their own duties. This approach not only improves your leadership skills but also fosters a more autonomous and collaborative work environment.

Vaidhriti

Your Yoga

You are born with Vaidhriti yoga which gives you a strong personality, but at times, you may face difficulties due to your wavering mind. You might feel anxious, scared, and unhappy. Therefore, it is important to surround yourself with positive influences and avoid negative company. Your ambition is high, and you possess a great work ethic to achieve success. However, it is crucial to stay away from unethical or illegal means to attain wealth and fame. Since this yoga has some negative effects, you may require remedial measures to counter them. By following appropriate remedies and making necessary changes, you can overcome the challenges and attain your goals.

1. Being born under Vaidhriti Yoga means it's crucial for you to practice patience and avoid making quick, impulsive decisions. Criticizing or speaking negatively about others can create enemies and lead to embarrassment, so it's best to steer clear of such behaviour. A good way to balance your emotions and increase your patience is by meditating and being mindful. Helping others through charity work can also boost your compassion and empathy. Wearing a pearl or moonstone might help in keeping your emotions in check. Keep your eyes on your goals and don't let distractions or negativity derail you. With steady effort and patience, you can achieve your aims.

DOSHA, HEALING, AND REMEDIES FOR YOU

Your Stored Karma

Kundalini Chakra Analysis

Manishaa, your kundli reveals that the Vishuddha and Anahata Chakra is your predominant energy centre, meaning many of your life's lessons will revolve around this chakra. This chakra, along with the other six, represents the karmic energies encoded in your Kundli.

Your dominant chakra is Vishuddha and Anahata

Vishuddha Chakra

Your Vishuddha chakra has scored the highest. For you, this chakra is dull and heavy with the excessive karmic residue. After Vishuddha chakra, it's your Manipur chakra that stores the excess of your karma.

Among the seven chakras, your majority of life lessons will come from these two chakras. In short, these two chakras will spin you and toss you till you've learnt your lessons- and learnt them well!

The ruling element of Vishuddha chakra is ether. Ether denote expansion and dreaminess.

So, do you have the tendency to build castles in air or believe that pennies drop from heaven?

An out of balance ether element can either result in too much dreaminess or too much restriction. In either way, you lack the necessary motivation to convert your thoughts into action.

You have the creativity, but more often you feel choked and sense a lack of channel to let out your feelings. It's just like you want to scream but have no voice to do so! This could be frustrating and can lead to depression and anxiety.

Besides art, the most basic form of self-expression is communication. Another point to notice when your Vishuddha chakra is dull and heavy is that your conversations will be full with anger and negative emotion. Of course, letting out anger and negative emotions can help you feel light- but you wouldn't know where to stop your aggressive behavior.

On the physiological level, check for your thyroid problems, throat irritations and hearing ability.

You can perform these below given following remedies diligently to get good results, pick 2 or 3 remedies and follow them regularly and sincerely to see positive outcomes.

First and foremost- journal down your feelings. It's very important to be aware of what you feel on a deeper level. Writing down your feelings will help you explore the unknown realms of your mind and clarify the nature of your emotions.

Next is just learn to open up before right people! Talk to someone you truly trust. Your parents, friend (a close one) and your teachers/mentors/gurus could be the right choice to talk to.

Just take up any form of art you like. And you don't have to be perfect at it!

Splash some color on the paper, pick up a pencil and draw figures of what you see/imagine, play a guitar or just bake something! Art will anchor your floating energies.

Lastly eat yoghurt, Brazil nuts, blueberries and seaweeds in plenty. You can also try delicious Blueberry Lemonade recipe! Most importantly, learn to eat in silence.

Anahata Chakra

After Vishuddha chakra, your Anahat Chakra is heavy with the karmic residue.

Anahat chakra is the Cosmic Heart Chakra. It is this chakra which represents our eternal yearning to meet our 'Beloved'. In your case- after the Mooladhar chakra, it's this heart chakra that is dull and darkened with excessive karmic burden.

Unconditional love and deep compassion all spring up from this chakra. It is this chakra that stores the properties of empathy and eternal healing. Since it's running out of balance- there will be times when you feel envious of your friends and people in general.

Anahat chakra is connected with the element of air. An imbalance in this chakra causes breathing issues and heart problems. This can also lead to high blood pressure and palpitations.

So, when was the last time you did your check-up. It could be the time to get your heart checked!

On an emotional level- you may find it difficult to control your emotions. This chakra will fling you between bouts of extreme sentimentality and pragmatism.

Ask yourself- do you expect too much of other people, especially when you are in a relationship? This is when things spiral downward. You may also have issues with trust and self-discipline.

You can perform these below given following remedies diligently to get good results, pick 2 or 3 remedies and follow them regularly and sincerely to see positive outcomes.

Love (in all its forms) is the root of all things. Remember- before you love others, it is yourself that you must love first. You're unique and it's perfectly fine to not be perfect at everything you do.

'Being flawed' is beautiful you see. So, love yourself and 'respect' the way you are.

Secondly, stop being jealous of your friends/people. Instead, admire their qualities and learn from them. This will add a magical dash to the mysterious personality that you are!

Now, if there's something that's holding you back (especially an incident from your past)- just let it go. Life is too short for grudges. The more baggage you carry- the heavier you become.

A COMPREHENSIVE KUNDLI ANALYSIS

Your Lagna Report

Manishaa, according to your Kundli, your Lagna (Ascendant Sign) is Leo. The Lagna signifies the first bhava in your chart, reflecting your physical existence and early experiences. It reveals insights into your personality, determination, and visible traits. Understanding the first house offers a glimpse into your personal strengths, weaknesses, preferences, and various other attributes.

People with Leo rising tend to be generous, proud, emotional, romantic, extroverted, vain, egotistical, courageous, sentimental, self-confident, showy, and want to shine and be successful in wherever they go and whatever they do.

They like to 'rule' and have homage paid to them for their 'royal' nature. You like to take risks and can sometimes be foolhardy, but you definitely have a zest for living.

The worst thing someone can do to you is to hurt your pride or be unappreciative of you. You wear your heart on your sleeve in matters of love and you need a partner you can be proud of and you want them to be proud of you.

You are faithful to and protective of those you love. You can be quick-tempered, but you tend to not stay angry for long. You like to play the kingly role and have a sense of drama surrounding you.

You are a ham. You like being the center of attention and will do things just to get that attention. You can be stubborn in a sunny sort of way.

Your roar is worse than your bite. If your pride is hurt or your dignity is trampled on, then watch out, because you can forgive, but you don't forget.

You enjoy sports and out-of-doors activity. Your vitality and spirit are strong except if your heart is broken in love. Your need for love and affection is very great and you need to feel appreciated.

If frustrated, you lose your desire for living. The Sun rules Leo so the Sun will be important in your chart.

music, or any form of expression, you shine the brightest when creating.

YOUR INNER SELF

Have you ever wondered what your inner self truly is?

Your subconscious mind is a hidden force that powerfully impacts your life. This report dives into your subconscious beliefs, patterns, and habits that operate beneath conscious awareness. You'll gain insight into these unseen influences and learn practices to reprogram your subconscious for positive change. Let's explore your subconscious terrain through the lens of Nadi astrology.

Your kundli shows a powerful conjunction between Moon and Saturn, which can greatly impact your subconscious patterns and intuitive abilities. This conjunction is often seen in the charts of saintly figures, indicating a desire to let go of material attachments and focus on spiritual growth.

With Moon and Saturn together, your subconscious mind may be more serious, disciplined, and focused on responsibilities. You might find yourself drawn to structure and organization, even in your inner world. However, this can sometimes lead to feelings of limitation or heaviness, as Saturn's influence can bring a sense of restriction or melancholy.

To train your subconscious mind and make the most of this conjunction, it's important to learn acceptance. When faced with challenging situations, try to accept them as opportunities for growth and learning. Developing a practice of mindfulness and meditation can help you observe your thoughts and emotions without getting caught up in them.

Time management is another key aspect of working with this conjunction. By creating a balanced schedule and sticking to it, you can reduce mental clutter and find greater peace of mind. Remember to make time for both work and rest, as burnout can be a risk with Saturn's influence.

Your intuitive abilities may also be heightened with this conjunction. You might find that your gut instincts are often accurate, especially when it comes to sensing the intentions or emotions of others. Trusting your intuition can be a valuable tool in navigating relationships and making decisions.

However, it's important to balance your intuition with practical considerations. Saturn's influence can help you ground your insights and make well-thought-out choices. Taking a step back to analyze situations objectively can prevent you from getting swept up in emotional reactions.

By working with the energies of the Moon and Saturn, you can develop a strong, disciplined subconscious mind and hone your intuitive abilities. Accept the challenges and responsibilities that come your way, and trust in your inner wisdom to guide you toward spiritual growth and fulfillment.

MENTAL QUALIFICATION

Are you curious about your mental abilities and qualifications?

This report looks at how your mind works based on where Mercury was placed at your birth. You'll learn about your natural way of thinking, learning styles, and how you best express yourself. We share insights from Nadi astrology about influences on your mind from past lives. Understanding your mental qualities helps you use your intellectual abilities in the best way.

Based on the insightful details provided about Mercury in your kundli, it's clear that your mind is a vibrant mix of creativity, courage, and intellect. Mercury, the planet that governs communication, learning, and reasoning, nestled in the expansive and adventurous sign of Sagittarius and located in the dynamic fifth house, suggests that you have a unique mental footprint that blends enthusiasm with intellect in a fascinating way.

Your placement in the fifth house reveals a penchant for finding joy in communication and a strong connection with youthful energies, including children and creative expressions such as music and drama. This makes you someone who not only enjoys but thrives in environments where playful dialogue, artistic pursuits, and entertaining ventures are at the forefront. Your love for humor and ease in discussing matters of pleasure and love highlights a buoyant spirit often sought after in social circles. However, it's essential to maintain balance and not to let the pursuit of enjoyment overshadow other responsibilities or lead to indulgence.

The influence of Sagittarius on Mercury bestows upon you a boldness in speech and thought that is both admirable and inspiring. This pairing encourages a love for wisdom, as well as a desire for continual expansion of your mental horizons through learning and exploration. Your inclination towards subjects that are deep and thoughtful, coupled with a recognition of the importance of freedom of expression, marks you as a lifelong learner who is never content with superficial understandings.

While your Mercury in Sagittarius fuels your aspirations for knowledge and truth, especially in the realms of philosophy, religion, or science, it also instills a sense of restlessness that might lead to a scatter in focus. The enthusiasm to dive into multiple subjects simultaneously is a fantastic trait but remember to channel this energy to ensure continuity and depth in your pursuits.

Communicating with power and a straightforward approach can open many doors for you, making you a potent speaker or writer, particularly on topics that challenge the intellect and the spirit. Your words, often carrying a prophetic quality, can uplift and inspire those around you. However, embracing patience and the subtleties of diplomacy, especially in roles where you're part of a team rather than leading solo, will enhance your natural abilities and ensure a broader impact.

To encapsulate, your Mercury's sign and house placement points towards an exciting blend of playful intellect and adventurous spirit. Balancing this with a grounded approach will help channel your vast mental energy effectively, allowing you to explore the depths of knowledge and creativity that your mind is naturally inclined towards. Stay mindful of the power of your words and the pursuit of pleasure, focusing on harnessing your remarkable intellectual gifts for sustained growth and fulfillment.

Waiting for Others to Prompt One's

Excessive Daydreaming - Dreaming about the future is wonderful, but don't let it replace action towards making those dreams a reality. Balance your aspirations with actionable steps to achieve them. Your potential is limitless when you start moving.

Running Away from Confrontations -

Confrontation doesn't have to be negative. It can be an opportunity for growth and clarity. Approach confrontations with a mindset of resolution and understanding, and you'll find they often lead to positive outcomes.

Leaving Behind Bad Habits

Let go of habits that make life harder and less enjoyable.

Your challenge lies in the deep-seated need for peer acceptance ("If I blend in and 'go with the flow,' I'll gain the support and happiness I seek"). Yet, this is an unending quest, Manishaa, as no amount of support from friends can propel you to seize life's vibrant opportunities.

You must become your own cheerleader, pushing yourself towards joy. Another pitfall is the perpetual pursuit of knowledge, believing it's the key to unlocking your creative potential. However, Manishaa, true confidence isn't amassed from endless learning but from daring to craft your own joy.

The twist? Once you leap into action, the insights you need flow naturally. So, Manishaa, by taking charge of your happiness, you'll find both the support and wisdom you were searching for all along.

Trap to Avoid

Don't get trapped in settling for less than what you truly want.

In past lives, Manishaa, you've observed life from the sidelines, embodying roles that kept you detached from personal desires to focus on broader humanitarian efforts. This self-sacrifice led to a disconnect from your inner child's vibrant energy. Whether born into challenging family dynamics or shouldering too much responsibility too early, you've been conditioned to suppress your playful side for survival or duty.

Now, Manishaa, it's time to rekindle that lost spark. Your journey involves stepping into life's limelight, seizing joy, and learning to play again. By engaging with the world around you, especially with children, you rediscover the essence of your inner child. This lifetime challenges you to shift from an observer to an active participant in the joy of living, finding balance between offering insightful observations and fully immersing yourself in the experiences that bring happiness and fulfillment.
